

Interested in learning more about working with Military and Veteran families?

SCCCMH is bringing HomeFront Strong in-person groups to this location. HomeFront Strong is an 8-week resiliency group for spouses and romantic partners of service members and post-9/11 veterans.

If you are interested in learning more about working with military and veteran families, you can register now for Military Family Resilience, a special offering from M-SPAN at the University of Michigan.

The highly interactive 2-day training will provide participants with evidence-based, practical strategies for working with military and veteran families in promoting resilience and positive mental health. Past trainees have reported that this is “the best training ever attended!” We hope you will join us!

Wednesday, April 24th & Thursday, April 25th
9:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.
(MUST attend both days)
SCCCMH - Auditorium

Seating is limited. Register today to earn FREE CEUs (IACET or MSWCEC) and specialized training in working with military families!

Learning Objectives:

1. Increase awareness of key elements of military and veteran culture
2. Review common mental health concerns for military and veteran families
3. Identify risk and resilience characteristics in military and veteran families
4. Apply and practice clinical strategies that promote resiliency and reduce mental health symptoms in military and veteran spouses

Military Support Programs and Networks (M-SPAN) includes a collection of programs at the University of Michigan focused on military and veteran mental health and wellness. With five flagship programs, M-SPAN is dedicated to bringing evidence-based interventions to communities through engaging with local providers and sharing best practices.
